PLAN OF THE COURSE

“Corruption, Public Policy, and Society”

TOPIC 1.

INTRODUCTION

Brief description

In this introductory class, we will:

- 👁️ Consider the importance of studying corruption
- 👁️ See how corruption has been defined
- 👁️ Obtain an overview of the areas in which corruption exists and which types of actors are most relevant
- 👁️ Review common misunderstandings about corruption

Materials

- 👁️ Heywood, Paul M. "Rethinking corruption: Hocus-pocus, locus and focus." Slavonic & East European Review 95, no. 1 (2017): 21-48.
- 👁️ Ledeneva, Alena, Roxana Bratu, and Philipp Köker. "Corruption studies for the twenty-first century: Paradigm shifts and innovative approaches." Slavonic & East European Review 95, no. 1 (2017): 1-20.

TOPIC 2.

PERSPECTIVES ON CORRUPTION

Brief description

Corruption can be viewed in different ways. In this class, we will look at the main conceptualizations of corruption that can be found in academic literature, including the principal-agent approach and the collective action approach. We will also look at how the study of corruption has evolved in recent decades.

Materials

- 👁️ Mungiu, Alina. "Corruption: Diagnosis and treatment." Journal of Democracy 17, no. 3 (2006): 86-99.
- 👁️ Persson, Anna, Bo Rothstein, and Jan Teorell. "Why anticorruption reforms fail—systemic corruption as a collective action problem." Governance 26, no. 3 (2013): 449-471.

TOPIC 3. RELATED CONCEPTS

Brief description

There are many concepts in use that are related to corruption, such as patrimonialism, crony capitalism, rent-seeking, clientelism, and state capture. In this class we will see what is meant by these concepts, and how they are similar or dissimilar from corruption.

Materials

- 👁 Brinkerhoff, Derick W., and Arthur A. Goldsmith. "Clientelism, patrimonialism and democratic governance: An overview and framework for assessment and programming." US Agency for International Development Office of Democracy and Governance (2002): 1-49.

TOPIC 4. MEASURING CORRUPTION

Brief description

Which countries and organizations have more or less corruption? Can we measure corruption? Different measures of corruption exist for the purpose of awareness-raising or academic study. In this class we will ask if corruption can and should be measured at all, and we will look at the benefits and shortcomings of different types of measures of corruption.

Materials

- 👁 Heywood, Paul M. "Measuring Corruption: perspectives, critiques, and limits." In Routledge handbook of political corruption (2015): 137-153.

TOPIC 5. ADMINISTRATIVE CORRUPTION

Brief description

A common distinction is made between administrative corruption, political corruption, and private sector corruption. In this class and the next two classes, we will look at each of these areas of corruption consecutively. Administrative corruption concerns the abuse of power and authority by public officials for private gain. In this class we will look at which types of administrative corruption can be distinguished.

Materials

- 👁️ Karklins, Rasma. "Typology of post-communist corruption." Problems of post-communism 49, no. 4 (2002): 22-32.

TOPIC 6. POLITICAL CORRUPTION

Brief description

Political corruption concerns the abuse of power and authority by politicians for private gain. In this class, we will look at the main areas in which political corruption occurs, including the formation of laws, campaign finance, the organization of elections, the acceptance of bribes, and the misuse of public funds.

Materials

- 👁️ Philp, Mark. "The Definition of Political Corruption" In Routledge handbook of political corruption (2015): 17-29

TOPIC 7. PRIVATE SECTOR CORRUPTION

Brief description

Corruption is also common in the private sector. In this class, we will look at the main forms of private sector corruption, including, the distortion of free market principles, bribery of politicians and public officials, tax evasion, and money laundering.

Materials

- 👁 Cooley, Alexander, John Heathershaw, and J. C. Sharman. "The rise of kleptocracy: laundering cash, whitewashing reputations." Journal of Democracy 29, no. 1 (2018): 39-53.

TOPIC 8. CAUSES OF CORRUPTION I

Brief description

Why is there more corruption in some countries than in other countries? Why do some people participate in corruption while others do not? In this class and the next, we will look at explanations for different levels of corruption across political entities, organizations, and individuals. This class focusses specifically on the impact of political regime type and the arrangement of political institutions.

Materials

- 👁 Rothstein, Bo, and Jan Teorell. (2015) "Causes of Corruption", in: Routledge Handbook of Political Corruption, ed. by Paul M. Heywood. Routledge, New York

TOPIC 9. CAUSES OF CORRUPTION II

Brief description

In this class, we will look at a broad range of explanations for different levels of corruption. These explanations are related to economic factors, the organization of public administration, the role of culture and values, international factors, and the legacies of Soviet communism.

Materials

-  Holmes, L. (2012). "Corruption in Post-Soviet Russia." *Global Change, Peace & Security*24(2): 235-250.

TOPIC 10. CONSEQUENCES OF CORRUPTION

Brief description

It is generally acknowledged that corruption has a wide range of negative consequences. In this class we will ask how corruption brings about specific negative consequences in four different areas: the economy, politics, public administration, and society.

TOPIC 11. ANTI-CORRUPTION I

Brief description

Due to its negative consequences, preventing corruption is one of the main struggles of our time. This class and the next focus on how corruption can be counteracted. In this class, we will look at the key approaches and types of actors in anti-corruption, as well as the actions that different types of actors can take.

Materials

- 👁 Mungiu-Pippidi, Alina. "Controlling corruption through collective action." Journal of Democracy 24, no. 1 (2013): 101-115.
- 👁 Engvall, Johan. "Against the Grain: How Georgia Fought Corruption and What It Means" Silk Road Studies (2012).

TOPIC 12. ANTI-CORRUPTION II

Brief description

A common distinction is made between administrative corruption, political corruption, and private sector corruption. This class looks at the different measures and policies to fight corruption in each of these areas. We will also look at which measures and policies are known to be effective, and why.

Materials

- 👁 OSCE Handbook on Combating Corruption

TOPIC 13.

CORRUPTION IN THE POST-SOVIET SPACE

RECAP

Brief description

Corruption is a major problem in much of the post-Soviet space. The high prevalence of corruption in the region can in part be explained by political and economic developments since the 1990s. In this class, we will look at the relationship between corruption in post-Soviet countries and the issue of state capacity, the phenomenon of oligarchs, organized crime, and conflict.
